MICHIGAN HAPPENINGS.

EVENTS AND INCIDENTS THAT HAVE LATELY OCCURRED.

An Interesting Summary of the More Important Deaths of our Neighbors—Wounds and Deaths—Crimes, Casualties, and General News Notes.

In consequence of the strike of one section of the Tittabawasee Boom Company's forces at Siginaw, the entire force of about 400 men were paid off last week and all operation suspended for the present. The company has only operated twenty-nine and a half days this season, costing and deriving 71,409,180 feet.

There has not been a death in Port Huron since June 4.

Hon. O. M. Barnes and wife have reached their home in Lansing after a three months' tour of Europe.

Several cases of measles have made their appearance at the Agricultural College, but owing to excellent facilities for isolation it is expected that the disease will spread no further.

At Lansing, last week, forty-one applicants, thirty-three of whom came from Michigan University, were admitted to practice in all the courts of Michigan.

Fire destroyed the hammer-shop connected with the crucible department of the Detroit Steel and Spring Works in Detroit. The loss, which includes several furnaces and much valuable machinery, is estimated at $15,000 to $50,000.

At Ann Arbor, the wedding of Miss Louise T. Angell to Professor Andrew C. Leapham was celebrated with all the marks of social distinction. The bride is the daughter of President Angell of the University, and the groom a member of the faculty.

Mr. Szubleski was a Polish immigrant, but a woman and a brother, with him, when her body died in the Port Huron Depot and her son, and mother filled the little room, making a heart-touching picture, men's eyes blinked, and the blinking overflowed when the little one was laid in a rough coffin and the mother was the lone mourner who followed the remains to the potter's corner. She was on her way to the far West to join her husband.

Attorney General Huston proposes to find out whether the big building and loan associations have any legal warrant for transacting business of a nature which has heretofore been supposed to belong exclusively to the banks. A law enacted by the last Legislature exempts no stock or trust associations from taxation, and it is asserted that a number of the largest and most important in the state have practically been engaged in a general banking business, the convenient new statute enabling them to pay a higher rate of interest and conduct their business on a more generous scale than the regularly incorporated State banks.

The Attorney General has determined to have the powers of the building and loan organizations plainly outlined, and, for his test case, has singled out the National Loan and Investment Company, of Detroit. The Supreme Court has granted him an order requiring the National to show cause why it should not be a general banking business, making the order returnable on June 23. As the matter is one of great importance, it is not likely that the motion will be argued then, but will be made a regularly docketed case, and will not be heard until the October term. In his application the Attorney General holds that the National has stepped outside the lines of its authorized business, and is receiving money on deposit, and using the same in discounting bills of exchange and promissory notes, loaning money to aid in the purchase and improvement of real estate, accepting money on deposit as is usual in doing a banking business, and selling what the company denominates "fully paid-up stock" for $100, and issuing certificates therefor with interest at 6 per cent, payable semi-annually. The National Company is one of the strongest and largest organizations of its kind in the state, and has a strong local board at Lansing and many other points.

Lansing Republican: The officers of the State Fair Association are in a mad clear through, and if their combined opinions of the Michigan Central Railroad management were compiled it would make a book that would be hot enough to burn asbestos. For the past twenty years it has been the custom of the railroads to carry free all exhibit freight to the State fair. It was done at Jackson and Kalamazoo, and as may be easily seen, cuts no little figure with the attendance at this big State show. And now the Michigan Central Railroad management is sweating under the collar in its frantic efforts to form a "combine" with roads leading into Lansing, and charge one-half rates on the exhibit freight. This would deplete the attendance and consequent number of shilling shlecks in the State Fair treasury to no little extent, and the State Fair officials are naturally indignant over the affair.

Grand Traverse farmers are too hard up, and the cost of living is high. They are buying at reasonable prices and on terms to save capital. Dishes bound in leather, etc., etc.

POLITICAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

President Harrison did not go ashore on Decoration Day—the admirers of Grover Cleveland possibly notice.—Inter Ocean.

The Democratic press has not made much stir over the recent results of the annual town meetings in Rhode Island; probably because they have been generally favorable to the Republicans.

The Philadelphia Record says that "the extra duty on pearl buttons alone will add 50 per cent. to the cost of manufacturing underwear." Goodness gracious, how many pearl buttons do Philadelphians have on their underwear?—Nat. Tribune.

Every Democratic judge in the Supreme Court took the Mormon side of the question in the late decision rendered by that body. Put this with the fact that the Democrats favor the admission of Utah and draw your own conclusions.—Porter Transcript.

Moscow, June 19.—The Russian customs officials have received sealed instructions directing them to raise the duties on imports into Russia. It is said that the duties on English hardware and cotton yarn will be raised from 30 to 40 per cent above those now imposed.

The third party Prohibitionists of Ohio have nominated a state ticket on a free trade platform; at least their platform contains a "for-revenue-only" plank in harmony with the Democratic policy. Brotherly love seems to continue to run its course smoothly with Democracy and the third party.—Det. Tribune.

Some of the free trade papers which are declaring that the English workingmen are as well paid as our own, should take for a text the fact that the gardeners in the vicinity of London—who are "skilled workmen"—have struck for an advance to nine cents per hour!—Blade.

"Had not more than two millions of the flower of the Republic offered their lives, their health and strength for their country, we should now be celebrating the twenty-ninth anniversary of Southern Secession and disunion."—Hon. John J. Ingalls, a Gettysburg.

Madrid, June 14.—Senor Morel has proposed a course which is favored by the budget committee. By the terms of the proposal the customs tariff will be raised with a view to reconciling Prime Minister Sagasta and the Liberals who favor protection. This is tantamount to a surrender of their principles by the free trade Liberals.

The howl of a few Democratic sheets against the census questions proves an inglorious fizzle. The people have more common sense than these quarrelsome partisans. The latter tried hard to make capital against the census office, ignoring the fact that the questions are fixed by statute, and that the present law is copy in this respect of that of 1880, which was drafted by the late S. S. Cox, a Democrat.—Blade.

Here is a suggestion made by a Mississippi Bourbon of a method to overcome the negro vote of that state:

Every citizen shall have one vote and an additional vote for each forty or eighty acres of land owned by himself or wife, and a vote for every $500 or $1,000 worth of real estate, less the forty or eighty acres of land he may own.

C. C. Givens is running for Congress in the Second District of Kentucky on the platform of opposition to pensions and appropriations for public buildings. His speeches which have been sent us by the comrades in that district, show that he is a rank old bourbon, who stands in the way of all progress and all National sentiment, and has no ideals behind the wretched obstructionist policy of the farmers of the Resolutions of 1798, which have been such a source of trouble to the country.—National Tribune.

Mr. McKinley, in his speech in the House supporting the silver bill, tersely the two points which should bring to its support and endorsement the masses of the American people. They are, first, that it will utilize every dollar of the silver product of the United States; and second, that the instant silver is on a parity with gold, that instant there will be free and unlimited coinage of silver. He also showed the demagogery of the Democratic opposition to the measure when he remarked that the Democratic members knew that they could not get free coinage when they were in a majority—they knew they could not get it now, and to defeat this bill was to defeat all silver legislation.—Blade.

WASHINGTON LETTER

[From Our Regular Correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 20, '90.

Senator Plumb and all the rest of the silver Senators are very much elated over their success in amending and passing the House silver bill in a manner which makes it provide for the free and unlimited coinage of silver by the substantial vote of 42 to 25. Senator Wolcott, of Colorado, made the first speech in favor of free coinage, which by the way, was his maiden effort in the Senate, and thereby placed himself at once in the front rank of Senatorial orators. This action, however, surprised many people, but not your correspondent, who predicted it in your columns many months ago. The bill as amended and passed by the Senate is now upon Speaker Reed's table and its disposal by the House is going to be "mighty interesting" to lots of folks, and some fine parliamentary work is likely to be exhibited for the elicitation of those sufficiently posted to enjoy it. If the House concurs in the Senate amendments, there is no certainty that the President will sign it, on the contrary, it is very probable that he would veto it. There is a conservative element in the House which will attempt to have a conference ordered on the amendments. If that is successful some sort of a compromise favorable to silver, but not quite to the extent of authorizing free coinage, will probably be the result. If a vote on the amendments is forced in, the House will be concurred in.

The McKinley tariff bill has been reported to the Senate, but it will not be called up until Monday, the 30th inst. The radical changes which our democratic friends have been predicting have not been made. There are changes, of course, quite a number of them, but they are unimportant and do not in the slightest degree affect the character of the bill, which will become a law substantially as it passed the House. This has been said before in these columns, but it is important enough to repeat.

Both House and Senate have withdrawn its amendments to the anti-slavery bill which has now gone to the President in exactly the shape which it first passed the Senate. It's a lame document.

Commissioner of Pensions Raun has no idea of resigning, although his position is one of the hardest and most unsatisfactory under the government. The River and Harbor bill has been reported to the Senate. With the amendments added by the Senate committee the bill carries an appropriation of nearly $25,000,000 and of the party against the advisability of passing it at the present session. Such talk however will not defeat the measure which is specially dear to the average legislator's heart, but should it pass they will be great pressure brought to bear on the President to veto it.

Speaker Reed, when asked when Congress would adjourn replied: "The House can adjourn by the first of July, and not leave anything of pressing importance undone." It would require some very lively hustling on the part of the House to adjourn at that date, but of course it could be done if the Senate were ready to adjourn, and the Speaker so willed it, but the Senate will just be beginning its consideration of the tariff bill on that date. Adjournment will be nearer to September than July.

The Senate rejected two Presidential nominations this week—John E. Eaves to be collector of internal revenue for the fifth district of North Carolina and H. H. Schuch, to be postmaster at Salem, N. C. Both of these appointments were made more than a year ago.

Mrs. Harris and her family have left Washington for the summer; they have gone to their new cottage at Cape May Point. The President will pay them a visit tomorrow, returning Monday or Tuesday.

The Toledo Blade in speaking of the new pension bill, says: "The ten thousand veterans who are now, to the shame of the nation they served so well, inmates of poorhouses, will be taken out of them by this bill; it will give needed aid to thousands of others who have been broken down under the stress of disease and old age; and we rejoice that this much is to be done. We cannot sympathize with those who oppose this measure of justice. True, the bill is not a service pension measure, and we are sorry it is not; but we are heartily in favor of it as far as it goes. It accomplishes something that ought to have been done years ago."

Nor is it going to injure the progress of the service pension movement. A service pension bill at the hands of the present Congress is hopeless; it has always been hopeless, as can now be plainly seen. But with this disability bill added to the pension laws, there will be no subtlety that can be used to hide opposition to a service pension. There has been, "We must provide for the old soldiers in the poorhouses first." This provides for them. There is no excuse now for voting against a service pension bill. Its opponents will have to come out and defend themselves before the country.

Hon. John C. Berry, of Vanderbilt, state Senator from this district, has been spending a couple of days in our city. We notice that many papers are booming Mr. Berry as a candidate on the Republican ticket for State Land Commissioner. Mr. Berry would make an excellent commissioner, and we think would make a strong candidate and add strength to the ticket. He has not only hosts of friends in Northern Michigan, but is also well known in Detroit, where he resided and was in business for years.—Chub Tribune.

"The wool crop of Michigan will be larger this season than last," said a well known dealer the other day. "There are more sheep in the state today than ever before and the size of the fleece is increasing. This is due to better breeding of sheep. Farmers grow larger sheep and finer woolled ones than they did formerly. A farmer told me the other day that his sheep paid better than any other department of his farm. He is a man who keeps an account with every field of grain and with all his stock, and he knows just what each department pays best. He said that his sheep paid him from 25 to 30 per cent net profits and no other department would pay more than one-half that."—Grand Rapids Democrat.

The Detroit Tribune says: Gen. Alger's action in declining the position of president of the Grant and Lee Monument and Park association at Cumberland Gap, Tenn. (probably a private real estate speculation), will be heartily approved by those who have not forgotten that the rebellion was a wicked, baseless war to destroy the Republic.

It would hardly be consistent for the commander-in-chief of the Grand Army to place himself on record as thinking that Grant, who fought to preserve the Union, and Lee, who led the rebel armies seeking its destruction, should stand on the same level, entitled to equal honor.

General Alger is right. No old soldier, if he takes the second thought world wish to see the statue of Grant on a pedestal with that of Lee, who was both a traitor perfurer and Democrat, and such sight was witnessed but once before in the world's history and that was when one Saviour was crucified between two thieves.

The transition from long, lingering and painful sickness to robust health marks an epoch in the life of the individual. Such a remarkable event is treasured in the memory and the agency whereby the good health has been attained is gratefully blessed. Hence it is that so much is heard in praise of Electric Bitters. So many feel they owe their restoration to health to the use of the Great Alkaline and Tonics. Rev. F. M. Shroud, Pastor United Church, Blue Mound, Kan., says: "I feel it my duty to tell what wonders Dr. King's New Discovery has done for me. My lungs were badly diseased, and my parishioners thought I could live only a few weeks. I took five bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery and am sound and well, gaining 25 lbs. in weight."

Mr. Ken Love, Manager Love's Family Folks Combination, writes: "After a thorough trial and convincing evidence, I am confident Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, beats 'em all, and cures when everything else fails. The greatest kindness I can do to my many thousand friends is to urge them to try it." Free trial bottles at H. C. Thatcher's Drug Store. Regular sizes 50c and $1.00.

Launehaw who remained three years, and whose ability in the school room is not questioned. He was followed by Prof. Colburn, who entered upon his work under very adverse circumstances being met by strong prejudice, kept alive for a time by those who opposed the change, but who met it all by honest, manly work and finally received from nearly all, the credit that was his due. Previous to the expiration of his year he was offered and accepted an assistant Professor's chair in the State agricultural college, where he remains. From nearly a hundred applicants the board selected as his successor the present Principal, Prof. W. V. Benkelman, who had been for several years at Cass City. His success is proven from the fact that he has been reengaged at an advance of salary. Miss Kate Mattison, of Mason, was engaged as his assistant, and Miss

May Bell Partridge, of Bay City, Miss Ida Bailey, of Mayville, and Miss Agnes Bates of Gaylord were retained and have done such work during the year just closing, that we believe there is as little just criticism toward either department as fails to the lot of any school in Michigan. We append a brief statement of attendance and hope the patrons of the school will see their significance and remedy the fact of so much irregular attendance which is the bane of any educational institution. Constant attendance and constant work alone can win success. The whole number of pupils enrolled in the high school during the year was

55. The average daily attendance, fall term, 30; winter term, 48; spring term, 39. The intermediate whole number, 57; attendance fall term, 49; winter term, 54; spring term, 38. The 2d primary, whole number 35; attendance fall term, 38; winter term, 45; spring term, 34. The 1st primary, whole number, 104; attendance fall term, 53; winter term, 57; spring term, 63. The total enrollment, 275.

We shall hope to see the future of our school as pleasant and profitable as the past, and believe our people are ready to sustain the board in all reasonable demands (and none other will be made) to advance its interests.

Conductor Richards kicks on being obliged to initiate breakmen, on his train who have no experience. Two men were hurt last week and one a greenhorn being sent him, he protested strongly.

Wagner Camp, S. of V. have procured a fine building for which is a beauty. The stars, and stripes are always beautiful to patriotic people, and unequalled for an object lesson. We congratulate the camp.

The body of Mr. Dr. Wagner was brought here for burial yesterday. She died at the asylum at Traverse City, where she has been since she became insane, soon after the death of her husband, never having regained her reason.

The Misses Marvin, who are teaching in adjoining districts in Ball, will close their work July 2d by a union school exhibition in the Jackson school

The teachers engaged for next year, are Prof. Benkelman, principal; Miss Kate Mattison, assistant; Miss Emma Day, intermediate; Miss Mus Havens, 2d primary and Miss Ida Bailey, primary. Miss May Partridge will take charge of the grammar department of the Tayas city school and Miss Agnes Bates, enters the State Normal.

A. J. LOVE.

Our School.

The citizens of Grayling may well be proud of their school, which has more than kept pace with the growth of the village and the country.

The change from an ordinary district school to a graded school was effected at a special meeting of the district May 26, 1883. Previous to that time the necessity of a new building had been acknowledged, and on Sept. 11th, 1882, R. Hanson, O. Palmer, and J. M. Jones were appointed to secure a site and N. H. Traver, R. Hanson, D. London, A. H. Swarthout and J. O. Hadley, were appointed, as a building committee and under their action the present site was secured and original building erected, at a cost, including furniture of about $6,000 to which was added last year about $4,000.

The first board of trustees was formed by the election of Messrs. Conine, Bates, Marquart, Fium and Masters, and the status of the Board has always been kept of high order, being always filled by progressive representatives, of whom we recall Messrs. R. Hanson, Traver, Staley, Bell and Havens. The present Board being Messrs. Marquart, Bell, Staley, Hanson, and Marquart.

She made a detailed statement of the whole affair as far as she knew, and this she will testify to in court. The statement, as taken down, by stenographer, covers fifteen pages of legal copy, and clears up many of the mysteries that surrounded the robbery. She says that the men, in jail, Detective Williams, Napoleon McDaniel, and John Browley, with her husband, committed the robbery; that McDaniel received the full support of the farmer, Minnesota, will send a general delegation to Congress, and the State government will be administered by the noble woman.
